Dear Ted:

Thank you for continuing to send copies of your letters to me. As you indicated in the July 27th letter, you have not heard from some of your leaders.

I watched, with interest, the KC Chiefs and College All Stars game, on last Friday night. I was interested, partly because of my little-boy liking for football and partly because of the questions regarding what might happen to the KC Chiefs. I noted that the KC chief's punt return runner was bothered twice--to the extent of a fumble--but I was not certain if I could see other evidences of fumbles, injuries, and other unusual events.

One question which has bothered me and which may have no immediate answer, is this: If the SI's wish to demonstrate their abilities and powers, would it be easier for them to do this in their own way rather than to use your abilities and efforts in these activities? As you indicate, there is a plan for the SI's in regard to professional football, and yet it seems that their goals must be many and varied, since professional football would seem to be rather "low on the list" of their eventual plans.

Despite the questions which come to me, I appreciate the effort, time, and money involved in your sending these letters and documents to me. Thank you very much.

Best wishes to you.

Sincerely,

R. Leo Sprinkle, Ph.D.

27, 1970....TO ALL CONTACTS

(THE PRO FOOTBALL SEASON)

Dr Sparkle

Now that you have all been able to read Otto Binder's masterfully-written account of my activities in SAGA Magazine...showing the depth and scope of my work...you will be better able to appreciate what I am doing now, as well as in the future. (Have just completed demonstrating five miracles in the span of five weeks! Documented.)

Before proceeding further...Brad Steiger is doing a book which will be out in October...about the world's psychics...and there'll be some kind of article in it on me and my work. Mention this just in case you want to get a copy. If you want Brad's address to order a copy, just let me know.

OKAY. Counting up this week...is the All-Star vs. Kansas City Chiefs game. Believe I told you, or most of you, some time ago...months...that I aimed to try to use PK to beat the KC Chiefs (current world's pro champions) in this one game. This Friday night, when the game is on, will be using my mind...to exert PK force (in a thousand ways) against the Chiefs, to help the All-Stars beat them. (The kids, you know.) Am going to use the Soldier's Field stadium in Chicago...as a "demonstration model". Will try to affect the power there...knock out lights, etc., and affect the TV and radio. My force, from my mind...could also affect the people there and cause them to do strange things.

I will give the All-Stars, with my mind...many many opportunities to win the game. If they fail to take advantage of all those opportunities, then, of course, they will not win. The PK cannot pick up the ball and run with it. It can trip up the opponents and make them fumble and goof all over the place. Which is what I'll try to make happen to the Chiefs. And cause minor injuries to the Chiefs...because am going to block them this year from winning the World's Championship. I've already notified Hank Stram of this. (Also I've notified the New York Jets coach; the Dallas Cowboys coach; the Phila. Eagles coach; and the Miami Dolphins coach -- that I will use my mind...to stop them from winning the World's Championship this year.) So you can observe with interest...what happens.

The Si's are going to, on their own...place their controls in every stadium this coming pro season...to affect every pro game...to cause countless injuries to players. Make walking hospitals out of all the pro football teams. Now, I am not doing this. They are. They've told me, to pass this on. My job will be to handle and control just five pro teams, with my mind. (Last year I controlled, successfully, three pro teams...one of them the Jets.) Now...you say the Si's must be out of their tree, as my friend Larry Maddox says...to do the above mean things. But I assure you...their plan is absolutely brilliant. I know why they are doing it; they have told me, but they forbid me to tell you the why of it. You can just see the result. Players being carried off the field by the many. Later on, when the time is right, they will allow me to tell you the why of this that they are doing...and then you'll gasp at their infinite cleverness! Guess that is all for now. Be sure and see that game this Friday...and hope that the Si's "time window" is okay for it. If it is okay, you'll see my mind control the game...and you'll probably see freakish things happen; a weird game.

Best to you all now...and write in sometime. You might be dead and buried, a lot of you, for all I know.
